in the House the vote was: Sewell, 49; Murphy, 5; McDermott, 6. Bullock of Passaic, one the Republican bolters, voted for Sewell. The Murphy votes were cast by Eisele and Ocott of Essex, Voorhees and Sabriskie of Bergen, and Brake of Hudson. The Republicans claim to have assurance that a Republican will be appointed to succeed Supreme Court Justice Abbett, but they are unable to find a suitable candidate now. Ex-Senator Grigs declined the honor with thanks, and neither Senator Voorhees nor Samuel H. Grey will take it. Monday night Judge Joseph H. Gaskill of Burlington was slated, but serious eljections have been raised against him as being too much of a politician. Then ex-Judge Lanning of Mercer was brought out. Objection was made to him because of his lack of experience and his too close connection with the reformers. Col. William F. Potter of Cumberland is the steet candidate, and will be supported by the south Jersey Republicans, who now have no representative in the court.

To-night, William S. Gummere, formerly of Newark and now residing in Trenton, is announced as a candidate with strong backing and as a likely winner. He is a son of Barker Gummere, a leader of the New Jersey bar, and is a sot-in-law of Chief. Justice Beasley. The term of Supreme Court Justices is seven years and the salary $9,000. PATTISON ACCEPTS.

He Declares for a Non-Political Adminis-tration of Philadelphia's Affairs.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 22.-Ex-Gov. Pattison accepted formally to-day the Democratic nomination for Mayor in a letter addressed to C. Oscar Beasley. He said the honor had come to him unsolicited, and then declared for an absolute separation of municipal affairs from State and national politics.

He pointed out that the well-known reform charter of Philadelphia prohibited participation in local politics by the city employees and officers, said that if he was elected he would enforce that provision strictly, and then he draw this indictment of Republican rule in this city:

"The entire expenditures of the State Government of l'ennsylvania, in receipt of profuse revenues, aggregate annually about $12,000,000, of which amount more than one-half is appropriated to public schools and charities. The expenditures of the Government of Philadelphia for the year 1894 were $32,190,000, and average per capita for each voter of of over $150. For the year 1887, the first year under the new charter, they were $17,638,304. For this enormous increase it is venturing nothing to say no adequate return has been received. Promises of better and cheaper gas, of purer and more abundant water, of splendid street improvements, and other public benefactions, have been clamorously kept to the ear and have been persistently broken to the hope. Improvident contracts have wasted the substance of the people. Lavish salaries have rewarded placemen holding sinecures, while 20,000 school children are to-day denied fit accommodations. The various departments of the city Government and the armies of employees have injuriously interfered to control the politics of the city. Municipal officers have betrayed their trust, to the shame of the city and to the loss of millions of the public moneys. Profligacy has quickly succeeded extravagance, and the revenues of the people have become the spoils of the unscrupulous. (inv. Pattison said that the Mayor could stop all this by enforcing the charter provisions. He declared that if elected he would oppose granting municipal privileges "except for limited periods."

Savannah's Hot Municipal Election.

SAVANNAH, Jan. 22.-Herman Myers, one of this city's best-known Jewish merchants and bankers, was elected Mayor of Savannah today, after the hottest municipal contest ever held here. He is the first Jew to be elected Mayor of a Georgia city. The opposition at the last moment declared that he was not a citizen, atthough he had been an Alderman for twelve rears. He relied upon the belief that his father had taken out citizenship papers while he was a child. Last night he applied for citizenship. The attacks on this ground strengthened him and led to an overwhelming victory for his en-tire ticket.

ANTI-PLATT ALDERMEN

INEFFECTIVE HOME RULE DEMON-

Alderman Goodman Talks About the Collar of a Boss and Wants the Pollen Reor-gastzers Appointed by the Mayor-Eight

Members of the Board Vote with Him. It has been known that a great deal of latent ratory was likely to break out in the new Board of Aldermen. It broke our vesterday when Allerman Elias Goodman of the Harlem district constituted humself the special champion of Mayor Strong and tried to secure the passage of a resolution calling on the Legislature to amend the Lexow Police Reorgnization bill so that the Mayor and not the Governor shall appoint the Commissioners of reorganization. The resolu-

Such appointing power ought to be vested in the Hon. W. L. Strong, Mayor of this city, by virtue of his direct interest in and responsibility for a proper administration of all the departments of the city, be cause of his nomination and election as a strictly non-partisan. Chief Magistrate, and because it is in line with the principles of home rule which the citizens of this city generally demand.

Therefore they proposed that the committee of seven appointed to look after legislation be instructed to advocate such an amendment. Alderman Goodman was on his feet, his right hand tucked into the front of his coat, and had just cleared his throat, when Alderman Noonan moved that the resolution lie on the table. With a pained look the Harlem orator pleaded against the enforcement of gag law. The appeal melted the heart of Alderman Noonan, who withdrew his motion, and Alderman Goodman said, among other things:

"This resolution does not call for our consid-"This resolution does not call for our consideration of this bill in all its details. It raises no question of a bi-partisan Police Board, with reference to which there might be an honest difference of opinion. It only has to do with a question in which the general sentiment of our citizens is, and the unanimous sentiment of this Board ought to be, arrayed in opposition to a victous principle vicilitive of home rule. I have nothing to say against Gov. Morton. I have no doubt if he is required to act he will act wisely and well. What we as a Board should do, however, is to put the seal of our disapproval on the principle sought to be established, and we should do it unhesitatingly and unanimously."

Here was a situation which called for the best effort of the Republican leader, Alderman Olcott. He was quick to reply.

"I did not suppose," said he, "that it is our province as a Board of Aldermen to ratify or condemn the acts of the Legislature or to give advice to that body. I must confess, too, my insability to vote offiand on bills which the Legislature deems of sufficient importance to warrant lengthy consideration. Such action as Alderman Goodman proposes would establish an unfortunate precedent. If the Legislature deto the Law Committee for consideration and report."

This argument was a vulnerable one, for the Board had by unanimous vote a few minutes before recommended the passage of Assemblyman Pavey's bill increasing the salaries of New York city's firemen. Alderman Goodman called attention to this fact and then asked in his best platform style:

"Can there be any doubt in the mind of an honest person as to who should appoint those Commissioners? Any person who is not weighted down by the chains and shackles of partisanshin, or who is not confined within the collar of Commissioners? Any person who is not weighted down by the chains and shackles of partisanship, or who is not confined within the collar of a boss, must admit that the Mayor is the man."

This flight brought down the crowd back of the railing, who stamped the floor lustily. One man reproved this unseemly offence against the dignity of the Board and ordered the arrest of the howier, but the Sergeant-at-Arms could not find him.

Alderman Hall of the Twenty-first district took Adderman Goodman's side of the argument, and said that the effort to refer the resolution was made for the purpose of delaying the matter until the protest would be too late.

Alderman Ware of the Eleventh district also favored the resolution, and said that it was the duty of the Board to show Mayor Strong that he had the citizens of New York behind him in the person of their representatives in the Board of Alderman Olcott said that Mr. Goodman had been somewhat disingenuous in suggesting that all who do not agree with him. New word dishoust.

Alderman Olcott said that Mr. Goodman had been somewhat disingenuous in suggesting that all who do not agree with him were dishonest. He recretted that statement and the spectacular exhibition of shackles, chains, and collars impelied him to state that he personally is in favor of the Mayor appointing the Commissioners to reorganize the force, and had communicated his views to Albany. He said, however, that his belief that the Board of Aldermen should not seek to affect legislative action until after due deliberation had not been changed, and he insisted on his motion to refer.

Pending the production of a copy of the bill the regular business of the Hoard was praceeded with. In the interim of half an hour there were some quiet little conferences between the Republican and the Democratic leaders in the smoking room. When the matter was called up again Alderman Olcott got the floor and said:

"I would like to ask the proponents of this resolution if they have conferred with Mayor Strong regarding it or if any of them represents the Mayor. Mayor Strong has put himself on record as unwilling to criticise any proposed legislation which is pending at Albany. If the resolution is referred the Mayor can be conferred with."

Neither Goodman, Hall, nor Ware answered the inquiry, and the aves and noes on the motion to refer were called. The vote was 21 to 9 son for this attitude on the part of the Tammany men was explained by Alderman Oakley, who said that they did not propose to go on record about any Lexow bill until Senator Cantor of the Lexow committee had made his minority report. The nine members who voted against the reference are President Jeroloman, Goodman, Hall, Muh, Randall, Schilling, Ware, Wines, and Woodward.

A resolution offered by Alderman Ware providing for cleaning and renovating the City Hall was referred to the Commissioner of Public Works. Another from the same source calling for an investigation of the City Hall marriage bureau was referred to the Commistoner of Public Morks. Another from the same source calling for an investigation of the City Hall marriage bureau was referred to the Committee on County Affairs.

The Board adjourned to next Friday at 1 P. M. Mayor Strong was supprised when he heard of the effort of the anti-Platt men in the Board. He was as loath to criticise the municipal legislature as he has been to criticise the municipal legislature as he has been to criticise that at Albany. He said he was content to attend to his duties as executive head of the city government, and, while he did not say it, he plainly intimated that the Board of Aldermen would do well to follow his example and attend strictly to their own business.

"The Hurdy-Gurdy Player" and "The Brawl," by Van Ostade, sold last night respectively for $225 and $290. The lowest price recorded in England for an Ostade, smaller than Mr. Ehrich's examples, was $1,440. The average price was $4,700. There was some little competition for the "Allegory of Human Life," by Leydon, and it was sold to Mr. H. S. Lloyd for $725. The "Portrait of a Woman," a picture of fine modelling and tone, was sold to Mr. C. C. Ruthrauff for $200.

"The Water Gare at St. Catherine, Delft," by Van Goven, Helst's "Portrait of a Sculptor, the fine "Waterfall" by Wyants, the "Landscape, with Cattle," by Paul Potter, and the painting attributed to Rubens were the only others in which the bidding showed anything like a competition, and even in the case of some of these there was a mystery about the identity of the purchasers, and such conflicting reports as suggested that they had not, in fact, actually changed owners.

Besides the paintings already mentioned, there are the others sold, with the names of the purchasers where they could be learned:

or from the home port or other ports. The number of skins aboard may also be entered by the visiting officer on the logbook, in order to save any question as to whether they were captured within the area or within the close season that is, between April 30 and Aug. 1.

At the same time, no change in this close season is effected, and this year, as last, the pelagic sealers can carry on their work through the month of April, while the herd is going to Behring Sea, and again throughout August and September within that sea. There is also no extension of the radius of the prohibited circle around the Pribylov Islands.

It is true that the Paris tribanal furnished the existing rules, both as to the time of the close season and as to the extent of the prohibited season and as to the extent of the prohibited season and as to the extent of the prohibited season end as to the extent of the prohibited season end as to the extent of the prohibited season changes by mutual agreement, and it is not yet no late to do so.

One plansuggested has been that of stopping all sealing in Behring Sea this year, whether by land or sea. This would be a sacrifice on the part of our Government of the income from the Pribylov Islands, since it would have to give up the proportion of rent and also the amount paid on eagh seatskin, besides being perhaps liable in damages to the lessees. On the other hand, the pelagic sealers could carry on their work in the North Pacific up to May I. Yet in the end such an agreement, could it be secured from other floveraments, would repay ours through the increase of the seal nerd.

This arrangement, however, can hardly be hoped for now, as the season is already far advanced. But at least it might be possible to enlarge the sixty-mile zone, since it is well recognize the sixty-mile zone, since it is well are therefore potent in urging its extension in order to secure the protection desired.

It would be a great point gained, also, if the close season about to begin. It is said that a report prepared by Col

At the last meeting of the delegates from the above colleges it was voted to rule out of the Football Association the Dartmouth Medical School, and this was doubtless the reason why School, and this was doubtless the reason why Dartmouth is apparently desfrous of withdrawing. The question of rating students out of baseball as well as football has been considerably agitated at Williams during the past few weeks, and though the delegates will not be instructed as to what action they will take, it is manifestly the opinion of the majority of students that Amberst and Williams should take unanimous action, now that such a movement has been started.

The requirements for admission to the medical school at Hanover are well known to be such as to encourage athletic interests, little other than a grammar-school education being necessary. Since Amilierst and Williams have no such opportunities for drawing athletic material, it is only fair that the "medics" should be ruled out, and thus bring the Hanoverian to the standard of the two Massachusetts colleges.

out, and thus bring the Hamoverian to the standard of the two Massachusetts colleges. According to reports, there is a movement on foot at Dartmouth for the formation of a league composed of the larger colleges and universities. Of course, if such is the desire of Dartmouth, Williams will certainly be no obstacle. Capt. Draper yesterday celled together the candidates for the baseball team. Only the pitchers and catchers will begin training now. The most prominent men for pitchers are: Lewis, '96, last year's star; J. Brown, '95; Roy, '96, and Fitch, '95. The catchers are: Capt. Draper, '95; Ashton, '97, and Hunt, '98. the awellers in the tea gardens and parks of Japan.

Barring a certain certain paintiness and an accompanying lack of atmospheric effect, Mr. Wores has depicted very truthfully street scenes in Tokio and Kloto, flower shows in Yockohamn, the sunshine that fluminates the wistaria of the tea booths and the cherry blossoms and fields of lotus flowers. There is a delicate piece called "Spring Plum Blossoms at Sugita," and a charming bit of landscape and sky in "The Heach of Kamakura.

A number of Mr. Wores's fluore studies of the demure little Japanese women in their gardens and indeers are interesting and attractive, and, though deflectual in certain technical qualities that might be desired, they have all the air of being truthful notes of wholly picturesque subjects.

THE WOES OF WOMEN.

ARE THEY NECESSARY, AND CAN THEY BE HELPED?

Some Very Valuable Advice to the Ones Who Feel that Life Has Not Been So

Pleasant as 14 Should A Surprising

" It is a hard life!"

The speaker was a prominent medical man of this city, whose practice is devoted exclusively to women and the treatment of their peculiar ail ments. He was standing at the entrance of a down town office building at an early hour in the morning, watching the passers-by, when he made the foregoing remark.

Turning to the writer, the doctor continued:

I have always felt a deep symmethy for those women who are obliged to tediously earn a live-Lihood in some branch of the industries of the day. I see upon the streets, in the early morning, the thinly clast in all ages of life burrying to the various shops: as, for instance, the laundries, the clothing houses, the box factories, the printing houses, the stores of different grades, any and all of which have but little occupation in for this frail class of our society to do. No occupation is more likely to bring on uterine diseases than the positions filled by the working class of women as clerks in our fashionable stores and sowing shops, or who operate type-writers in business offices. I believe, could the truth be known, not a female clerk who stands at the counter all day, or the women who run sewing machines from early morn until the shades of night, are free from some of the diseases incident to her sex.

Women's work, unfortunately, is a necessity of the age. Women work too hard and the majority begin their working life too young. The result is that nearly all are sufferers from the distressing allments peculiar to their sex. These weakinesses darsen their days, steal away their bright looks, and make them grow old even in printing houses, the stores of different grades, distressing allments peculiar to their sex. These weaknesses darren their days, steal away their bright looks, and make them grow old even in their early youth. "I cannot work to-day!" is a sail compaint too often heard in business establishments, when some suffering woman is obliged to leave her work, which generally means a serious loss to her.

"Oh, if I only knew of some reliable remedy for this trouble, I would give anything!" some pale weary woman is frequently heard to exciaim. And there is indeed an enormous demand for such a thing. But how very few truly reliable remedies there really are! In fact, there is only one that his ever received the endorsement of physicians throughout the world and has stood the test of many years. That remedy is warner's stafe cure, which experience has shown can be fully depended upon at all times. It has never yet failed to give relief and effect a cure even in the most critical cases. That is why so many thousands of glowing testimonials have been given by women whom Warner's Safe Cure has restored from sickness to health. Adv.

Arthur M. Forrester, well known in Irish revolutionary circles, died in Boston yesterday, aged 44. He was a native of Ballytrain, county Monoghan, Ireland. In 1865, he went to Dublia to take part in an anticipated Fenian movement, and remained there until after the suspension of the habens corpus act in February, 1867 he led two circles of the Manchester Fenians in the abortive raid on Chester Castle, after which he again returned to Dublin. He wes arrested on March 9 and sentenced to imprisonment for one year at hard labor for carrying arms in a "proclaimed" district. On his release Forrester was elected organizer and arms agent of the north of England division of the Irish Revolutionary Brotherhood. He was arrested on Dec. 16, 1869, in Liverpool. After three examinations, in which he defended himself, he was discharged on $1,000 bail to keep the peace for twelve months. He served with distinction for France in the Franco-German war, and was promoted to be Sou-Lieutenant for bravery. From 1871 to 1874 Forrester served as organizer and arms agent for the Senior Council in Ulster. England, and Scotland, and later again actively engaged in revolutionary work in Dublin, its name was frequently mentioned in the Phonix Park trials, but he succeeded in keeping out of custody, and came to the United States.
